

The display of violence on prime time television shows is increasingly graphic. Many crime shows including Third Watch and CSI show levels of violence that I think are unacceptable for prime time programming.